The 2015-16 Budget: Major Features of the Adopted Plan (Child Care and Preschool)

Child Care and Preschool

Budget Act Provides $2.8 Billion for Child Care and Preschool Programs. As shown in Figure 1, the 2015-16 budget agreement includes $1.6 billion for non-CalWORKs programs, $1.1 billion for CalWORKs programs, and $150 million for support programs. Combined, the budget augments these programs by $423 million (18 percent) from the 2014-15 Budget Act level. The bulk of the increase is covered by higher Proposition 98 and non-Proposition 98 General Fund support.

Higher Spending Predominantly Due to Reimbursement Rate and Slot

Increases. New program enhancements and expansions account for the vast majority of the year-to-year increase. As shown in Figure 2, the largest augmentations are for reimbursement rates and additional slots, which receive an additional $163 million and $133 million, respectively. We discuss these augmentations and caseload adjustments in greater detail below.

^aOf these slots, 5,830 are for LEA providers, with the remainder for non-LEA providers.

COLA = cost-of-living adjustment and LEA = local educational agency.

Reimbursement Rates

Standard Reimbursement Rate Increases by 5 Percent. The budget provides $61 million for a 5 percent increase to the Standard Reimbursement Rate (SRR) starting

July 1, 2015. For the State Preschool program—both part- and full-day—this 5 percent increase is in addition to the 1 percent increase to the part-day rate described below. Previously, both General Child Care and State Preschool were funded using the SRR. Due to the differential rate increase to the part-day State Preschool rate described below, the new part- and full-day State Preschool rates will be higher than the SRR.

Regional Market Rates (RMR) Increase by 4.5 Percent. The 2014-15 Budget Act increased the RMR to the greater of the 85th percentile of the 2005 regional market rate survey or the 85th percentile of the 2009 regional market rate survey deflated by 10.11 percent. These rate increases were effective January 1, 2015. The 2015-16 budget provides $34 million to annualize the cost of these rate increases. It also provides $44 million to increase the RMR by an additional 4.5 percent starting October 1, 2015. As of this date, the RMR will be set at the higher of 104.5 percent of the 85th percentile of the 2005 regional market rate survey or 104.5 percent of the 85th percentile of the 2009 regional market rate survey deflated by 10.11 percent.

License-Exempt Rates Increase to 65 Percent of Family Child Care Home Rates. The budget provides $18 million to increase license-exempt rates from 60 percent to 65 percent of the regional market rate for family child care home providers starting October 1, 2015. License-exempt providers are family, friends, and neighbors who provide child care to children in the CalWORKs and Alternative Payment programs.

Part-Day State Preschool Rate Increases 1 Percent. The budget provides $6 million to increase the part-day State Preschool rate by 1 percent to expand professional development activities for teachers and increase training for parents. The full-day State Preschool rate—which is funded through a combination of the part-day State Preschool rate and a “wrap” rate—also receives a 1 percent increase for the part-day preschool portion of the rate.

Slots

Significant Increase in Slots. As shown in Figure 3, the budget funds almost 23,000 (7 percent) more preschool and child care slots in 2015-16 compared to 2014-15. This includes about 17,400 (9 percent) additional slots in non-CalWORKs programs and 5,600 (4 percent) additional slots in the CalWORKs programs. Of the increase in slots for non-CalWORKs programs, about 7,500 are full-day preschool slots and 2,900 are part-day preschool slots. (These reflect annualized slots, as the budget funds additional slots for the full- and part-day programs starting at different times.) The budget also funds 6,800 additional Alternative Payment Program slots. For the CalWORKs programs, the 4 percent increase in caseload primarily is due to more families projected to participate in welfare-to-work activities and, as a result, use Stage 1 child care.

^dState Preschool “wrap” slots funded by General Child Care are included in State Preschool—Full Day.

DSS = Department of Social Services and DOF = Department of Finance.

Budget Shifts $145 Million in State Preschool “Wrap” Into Proposition

98. Previously, full-day State Preschool was funded by a combination of Proposition 98 and non-Proposition 98 General Fund. Specifically, Proposition 98 funded the part-day preschool program and non-Proposition 98 General Fund supported the wrap portion of the day. The budget package shifts non-Proposition 98 General Fund wrap funding provided to local educational agencies (LEAs) into Proposition 98. (The minimum guarantee is not rebench for this shift.) Full-day State Preschool slots offered by non-LEA providers remains funded with a combination of Proposition 98 and non-Proposition 98 General Fund.

Training and Improvement Activities.

One-Time Infant and Toddler Quality Rating and Improvement System (QRIS)

Block Grant. The budget provides $24 million in one-time funds to support a QRIS block grant to support improvements in care for infants and toddlers. This funding builds upon the ongoing $50 million provided for the preschool QRIS starting in 2014-15. The California Department of Education will allocate the infant and toddler QRIS funds to existing regional consortia, which first developed under the federal Race to the Top grant. No more than 20 percent of the funding awarded to QRIS consortia may be allocated directly to child care providers. Rather, the funding is intended to be used by the consortia for professional development, training, technical assistance, and other resources for providers.

Initiative Description:

The SF Title V CDE SRR Initiative was formed in January 2014 by concerned Executive Directors to tackle inadequate reimbursement rates for child care programs in San Francisco and throughout the State. The members of the Initiative include 26 community-based early care and education agencies in San Francisco receiving subsidies from the California Department of Education (CDE) and providing early learning services to a total of 5,588 children ages 0-12.

The Problem:

California's early care and education programs have been devastated by years of massive budget cuts that a recent budget restoration has failed to address. In 2008, the state's child development and early learning programs were funded at $2.5 billion. Today, even after a partial restoration of funding in the 2014 State Budget, the total number of "slots" - spaces for children in child care - is 20% lower than in 2007-8, and total state spending on these services is 31% lower than in 2007-2008 after adjusting for inflation.

State reimbursement rates (SRR) meant to subsidize early care and education were set in 1980 and remained frozen for the past seven years until they received the modest 5% increase described above. Even with the increase in payment rates, "Title V programs" such as ours in San Francisco that contract directly with the State are reimbursed at a value that is nearly 7% lower than the 2007-8 rate, after adjusting for inflation.¹ It is also notable that Title V programs are held to higher standards for staff qualifications and staff-child ratios than other programs - requirements that are embraced by San Francisco Title V programs for the role they play in quality programs - and yet receive lower reimbursement in many counties than those funded by State Voucher.

In this inhospitable funding environment, Title V Programs throughout the state struggle to maintain core services to needy children and families. The California Department of Education estimates that 224 Title V providers -representing 16 percent of the total - turned back contracts during the recession largely because of the insufficiency of funds, resulting in a reduced pool of programs for low-income families.²

San Francisco Families and Programs Pay the Price:

The problem for families and child care programs in the high cost county of San Francisco is more severe than in many other parts of the state. The current level of the SRR is set at $38.46 per child per full day of enrollment. The difference between what the state pays and the market rate in San Francisco - about $1,573 a month for a preschooler - is less than half. Programs struggle to find funds to meet the needs of low-income families in San Francisco. Teachers employed by our programs earn salaries that fall short of a living wage, and do not reward them for completing required college-level education. Families cannot afford to make up the difference and the providers cannot afford to take such huge losses. The ultimate result of this under-funding is that low-income families who need early care and education services to enable them to work or go to school have less access to the market, and especially to San Francisco's high quality programs.

SF Title V CDD SRR Initiative Actions

The SF Title V Initiative - led by a steering committee of committed Executive Directors - is seeking to amplify the voice of SRR-funded programs, their staff, and the families they serve on the local and state level. Each member of the steering committee (Members are listed on the first page) has made an initial financial contribution and has secured philanthropic matching funds.

These funds have been used to employ a part-time consultant to energize and coordinate advocacy for increased rates. Activities have included:

- Meeting with San Francisco policy makers such as Senator Mark Leno, and Assembly Members Phil Ting, and Tom Ammiano, to heighten their awareness of low rates, and advocate for a rate increase.
- Meeting with policy makers in Sacramento to alert them to the reimbursement rate crisis faced by Title V programs and the special challenges faced by programs in high cost counties such as San Francisco
- Securing a Resolution, sponsored by Supervisor Norman Yee from the San Francisco Board of Supervisors in support of raising the SRR,
- Supporting state legislation that proposes to increase and regionalize the SRR, that while unsuccessful in the short term, serves as a possible starting point for future state action.
- Coordinating letter writing actions with parents, allied groups and organizations in San Francisco and around the state, and tracking and researching child care and development rates and related policies.
- Convening Community Child Care Executive Directors to increase our voice in local and state policies.

The urgency of the reimbursement rate crisis has led the Title V Initiative members to take immediate action - fearing that a continuation of inadequate rates could further erode their ability to play the vital role that they play in educating and caring for San Francisco's children. It is notable that several of the child care programs included in this Initiative have been in operation in San Francisco for more than 100 years. These early care and education programs are intent on strengthening their financial reimbursement so that they can offer high quality services and remain in operation for years to come.
